A good sized audience attended the ion missionary meeting in Christ Lutheran church last Sunday evening. It was the opening service in the observance of the Week of Prayer, and was arranged by the Ministerial Association of rown. Rev. El. C. Alleman conducted the openng exercises and Dr. T. J. Barkley read

e Scriptures and led in prayer.

Rev. Mr. Alleman, in his introductory marks, said that the problem of missions is the pressing need of our church. When Nov. 2. Frank Ziegter, at Hanove we consider that in this country there are over sixteen million foreigners we are con-(ronted with the fact that the Christian Church has a duty at home and abroad. "The Outlook of Missions for This Year" was the subject assigned Rev. D. W. Woods, Jr. He said that although the Church had always been missionary in a sense, yet the beginning of modern foreign missions was in 1793, when William Carey left England for India and told his church, "If they would hold the rope ne would go down." Half a century ago when a missionary left this country for China it took him nearly a year to reach his field. Now, by means of many railroads and fast steamship lines, the whole world is brought to our doors. Africa is opening up its stores of wealth. The exdorer, Stanley, is authority for the state ment that it will be but a year or so until here will be a railroad throughout the heart of Africa from Cape Town to Cairo. When an African tribe will travel one hundred miles to hea the Gospel shall we refuse to send mission tries to them? Our Church has a tremen dous responsibility. It is one which calls for a larger measure of liberality for this Until we give to missions as much as we spend for luxuries we will not be do
