Baltimore Concern Buys Equipment of E. B. R. R.

Real estate, rolling stock, including locomotive and several cars, a quantity of rails and other equipment used in the operation of the East Berlin railroad were sold on Saturday in York by the executors of the will of the late William G. Leas and William D. Himes, receiver of the East Berlin Railroad company to Henry M. Foster company, Baltimore, Md. The price paid has not been made public but it is said to be in excess of any offers that have been made heretofore for the equipment. The only real estate that comes into possession of the purchaser is the property in East Berlin that was used as a terminal point when the road was in operation. All of the rails with the exception of those that were laid between Abbots-town and Berlin Junction come into the hands of the new owner. It will be remembered that a movement made by Abbots-town citizens resulted in the purchase of the track between their town and Berlin Junction and a subscription canvass was being made under the direction of a citizens' committee to raise a sufficient fund to purchase the entire road.

The Henry M. Foster Company is a Delaware Corporation that deals extensively in railroad equipment. With their acquisition of the East Berlin railroad equipment, comes the question of what will become of the present movement of the part of the citizens with regard to a resumption of operating the road? It is not the intention of the purchasers, it is understood, to operate the road but through them the purchase by the citizens of the rolling stock and equipment will have to be made since it has passed out of the hands of the Leas estate.

When the road discontinued operation the charter was forfeited and when the tracks of the road were recently torn up the right of way reverted to the property owners.

A number of the shot struck him. One of the missile passed entirely thru his chin, two lodged in one of his arms and another stuck in his hand. A local physician extracted the pellets, and the wounds are not thought to be of a serious nature, unless blood poison should develop.

Hampton Dry For Week.

Hampton will be a dry town for a week, at least. At sentence court on Saturday, S. V. Bushman, lately proprietor of the Hotel Hampton was ordered to close his place of business until November 20th, when a hearing will be held in the matter of having the license transferred to Jacob Eckert, of Gettysburg, who recently purchased the hotel. If he is granted the license the hotel will be re-opened at once. Bushman was indicted at August court on the charge of "selling liquor to a man of known intemperate habits". The charge was preferred against him by Mrs. Maluan, to whose husband, Bushman is alleged to have sold liquor. At a hearing before Squire Harnish the case was returned to court and the indictment followed. He pleaded guilty at the November term of court. On Saturday Judge Swope sentenced him to a fine of $50 and costs of prosecution and instructed him to close the hotel. Prior to this time the place was sold to Jacob Eckert and an application was made for the transfer of the license. November 20th was set as the day for the hearing in this case and until that time at least, Bushman was ordered to keep the place closed.

Mrs. Sarah Stine, a well known Hanoverian, died on Sunday night from burns received early that morning at the home of her son, William P. Stine, in Charleston, W. Va., when she attempted to light a natural gas heater in her room. It is supposed that the aged woman arose to light the heater in order to take the chill off the room. On account of infirmities she probably was unable to strike a match immediately after turning on the gas. When the flame came in contact with the flowing gas, there was an explosion and Mrs. Stine was burned about the face and hands to such an extent that despite the immediate attention of a doctor, the burns proved fatal. The deceased was the last surviving member of a family of eleven children born to the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Weigle, on the homestead farm, near New Oxford. She was a twin-sister of the late Mrs. John S. Young, who died on January 1, 1914, and she was in her 86th year. Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Clara O. Wentz of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Chas. A. Boyles, of Harrisburg, and a son, William P. Stine, of Charleston, W. Va. For a number of years Mrs. Stine has made her home with the family of her son, in Charleston.
