Out Of The Past From the files of the Compiler, Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO The severe drought which has prevailed in this section practically for the past two months was broken by a severe electrical storm and rain on Thursday night. The rain started about 7 o'clock and for nearly three hours a heavy downpour continued. The rain was accompanied by a severe thunderstorm which caused considerable damage throughout Adams and York Counties. A bolt of lightning entered Topper's Barber Shop, McSherrystown, stunning a number of people, but did no further damage.

E. G. Whitters, of Lancaster, has purchased the machines and machinery of the Gettysburg Shirt Factory from Hon. William T. Zeigler, former owner. Mr. Zeigler retains ownership of the building which will be rented by Mr. Whitters as a place for conducting the business.

At a meeting held on Friday by a number of prominent citizens of the town and county, the project of organizing a new bank was discussed at some length and subscription lists have been sent out. The object of the bank will not be to run in opposition to the present banking institutions, but as a money making investment. It is hoped to have the bank in running order by April 1, 1951.

William Kappes, a well known well digger and quarman who resides on the York pike, just east of town, has in the language of the mines, "struck it rich." While engaged in digging on Square Markley's farm, near Centre Mills, he discovered a vein of rich metallic ore, which, upon further investigation, proved to be about 12 feet wide and five feet deep, extending over a half mile in length. Henry Kappes, of Sappenburg, son of William Kappes, is the general manager. Philip Hennig, of this place, is also interested. Four men are now at work removing the ore.

Miscellaneous: On Friday evening during the electrical storm, a bolt of lightning ran in on the electric wire and disconnected the electric current on the arc light machine at the power house, causing the lights to go out. No other damage was done.

From Tuesday to Friday of last week the thermometer registered 100 degrees and over at various times of the day, the four successive days being the warmest experienced here for a number of years. In a well played and interesting game of baseball at York on Saturday, Gettysburg was defeated by the Penn Park club of that place by a score of 6 to 3. The features of the game were Plank's pitching and Clay's homerun. The crowd was estimated at 3,000. John C. Hemler has sold his hotel property in Bonneauville to S. Vincent Bushman, of Sketches By Ben Burroughs "FIGHTING HEART" A man can have two arms of steel... but if he lacks a fighting heart... he'll miss the greatest height... he may possess an iron fist... and strength beyond his need... then, too, he may be quick of mind... and blessed with extra speed... or be a fancy Dan... but without faith and fighting heart... he's just an also-ran... this need of heart is not just for the pugilist who fights... but it holds true for all of us... who battles for our rights... for when the chips of life are down... and troubled waters mount... a fighting heart will see us through... however long that count.

Today's Talk HIGH AIM By George Matthew Adams Behind every important act in life there should be a definite aim or purpose, and so dominant as to form a cloak, fabricated for life! The only really happy people are those who have vision and who keep seeing better things and better times ahead, and keep working to make them realities. Little is to be gained by concentrating on small plans. They do not have the power to stir the imagination, nor to create initiative. It is far better to aim high, even though you do not attain your objective, than to aim low and get something you don't want. We know so little about our own potentialities. By aiming high and working toward a definite end we keep surprising ourselves. When Abraham Lincoln waited upon people in that small Salem store, little did he dream that some day he would be President of the United States and a world figure. But he kept studying, improving each opportunity for advancement, constantly serving in the best way that he knew, so that little by little his great worth was demonstrated to all about him, and those who knew him delighted to honor him. As Thomas Edison worked at his telegraph instrument, he kept thinking of ways to improve it, as well as himself, so that each move in his life unfolded greater opportunities before him — and never was he satisfied with the higher rounds in achievement but kept forever inventing something new. He always had high aims before him. Only through high aim do the strange and unexpected come to any of us. And more often than not that something is what we least suspected. Never should the ambition of anyone be discouraged. History is written and composed from the high aims of the minds and hearts of people with a purpose. The Emperor Marcus Aurelius wrote down from time to time thoughts that he wanted to preserve as an aid to his own growth of mind. Happily they were preserved for the encouragement of all mankind!

Littlestown News Briefs Mrs. Darlene Guise and Mrs. Rita Deutsch presented a special program of music during the Sunday morning worship service at Centenary United Methodist Church.

Three Huntington Township Planning Commission members were re-elected to new one-year terms at the commission's June meeting. Those re-elected were chairman Harrison Fair, Vice-Chairman Henry Semke and Secretary Charlene Keefer. In other action at the June meeting, Mrs. Robert Smith was introduced as a new commission member to succeed Earl Tretow who asked not to be reappointed after his term expired. Also, the board was read a letter of resignation from member Charles L. Gembe. No replacement has been named to fill Gembe's unexpired term. Plans for four single-lot subdivisions were discussed and approved at the meeting. At the July meeting, the board reviewed preliminary plans for two single-lot subdivisions. One of these lots is a two-acre tract of land being purchased by the township from Esther Keefer for a proposed township building.

Rev. William C. Karns, Chairman of the Littlestown Community Center Group, has extended an invitation to all organizations of the community to meet with the Bicentennial Executive Committee on Aug. 20 at 8 p.m. in the Community Center Building. The steering committee will present a progress report on the plan for Littlestown's observance of the 200th birthday of the nation. At the last joint meeting of the Group, representatives nominated seven members to serve as the Steering Committee, proposed ideas and plans were drawn up. The committee has already held an auction to raise funds for the observance.

Miss Jenny Crouse, the guest soloist, sang the Anthem on Sunday morning at St. Paul's Lutheran Church. She is a member of Christ Church. Dr. James Sheen was the guest Sunday School speaker. The altar flowers were presented in memory of Bernard Selby by his wife and family. Gary Bream served as Acolyte and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Althouse were the Greeters.

Hampton Just Folks "DOING ALL RIGHT"

HAMPTON—A picnic was held Friday evening on the lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey A. Asper. Brown's Dam in honor of their son Jeffrey Allen Jr., who observed his second birthday. Alan Rinker, York, spent the weekend with his great-grandmother, Mrs. Edna Rinker and family. Chief of Police William Brodbeck of Reading Township has issued a warning to parents to keep their children under control or they will be prosecuted according to law. Chief Brodbeck noted that windows are being broken by BB shots, water is being left out of the tanks at the Mt. Joy Construction Company and bicycles have been taken from the town and found hidden in bushes a mile outside the borough. John Pitman and family moved recently from Hampton to near Gettysburg. Mrs. Jacob Walters, Gettysburg was a recent visitor of her brother, Ernest Shelleman, Hampton.

In Corsica, carafes of sugared wine are hung in the houses to attract bees so they will leave the sweet food alone. A Corsican delicacy is pate-demerie, a paste made from blackbirds who feed on the spicy herbs on the island.
